Friday, July 25th

8PM @ <sup>the</sup>Matrix coffeehouse

Brian Gore's American-based impressionistic style is defining the "next generation" in acoustic guitar. His eclectic style integrates classical and percussive techniques, but is also rootsy, reflecting his experience as a self-taught player bred in the diverse musical world of the San Francisco Bay Area. He is the US originator of the International Guitar Night, North America's premier touring guitar production. As a featured artist in IGN, Gore has shared the stage with many of the world's most brilliant performing guitar composers---Ralph Towner, Paulo Bellinati, Gerardo Nunez and Alex deGrassi, to name a few.

Jay Howlett

Playing acoustic steel string guitars and using multiple capos with holes cut in them he gets some very bizarre fingerings and interesting chord voicings.

Jay left his day job behind in 1998 and started just playing music in California, Nevada, Colorado, Wyoming, Oregon, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine playing festivals, clubs, coffee houses, bars and resorts. His tour schedule has expanded even further since then.
